

Why Mediation Works

- Participants create and are responsible for their own agreements.
- All information is confidential to the fullest extent of the law.
- The sessions are informal and private.
- The time and cost required are much less than litigation.
- Mediation can preserve relationships and restore communication.
- Mediation provides a neutral setting to openly discuss sensitive issues.